

ENGAGEMENT PROPOSAL

The Davos Decision Kit: a front door to the practice

Prepared for: Heather Kernahan, The Content Bureau

Prepared by: [Your name], FDI

Date: [Date]

Valid for: 30 days

The gap

Your Davos practice has two doors today. The free door: the Davos Curious briefing, generous and effective, but it leaves the attendee with notes, not a system. The big door: high-touch advisory, the right answer for committed clients but a five-figure first step. Between them is nothing, and that gap is where most of your audience lives.

The product

A self-serve, one-time-purchase decision system, downloadable the moment someone buys. Four working assets built from your team's expertise, delivered under your brand:

DECIDE

Go/No-Go Scorecard

A weighted framework producing a board-defensible go or no-go recommendation in one 45-minute session.

PLAN

Twelve-Month Runway + Budget Calculator

The month-by-month plan working backward from January, and a cost worksheet with realistic public-range estimates.

EXECUTE

Visibility Plan Templates

Meeting-request scripts, briefing docs, a model high-impact week, and the follow-up system where the ROI lives.

Every asset ends at the same next step: book a strategy session with your team. The kit monetizes the curious who never convert, qualifies the ones who will, and hands you a warm, pre-educated pipeline.

Suggested buyer pricing: $299 one-time, $199 at launch. Low enough for a corporate card without approval, high enough to signal senior advice. It sits between the free briefing and advisory and never competes with either.

Scope and timeline

- WEEK 1 Transfer and draft. One working session with your team; FDI drafts all four assets plus the kit read-me and packaging.
- WEEK 2 Revise and deliver. Your review pass; FDI revises, finalizes launch copy (product page, launch email, two social posts), and delivers the packaged kit in editable form.
- WEEK 3 Optional add-on. Commerce plumbing: checkout, gated download, and email capture wired into your site, tested end to end.

Investment

$7,500, fixed for the product, packaging, and launch copy. Half on signing, half on delivery. Commerce plumbing add-on: $2,500. Alternative structure if preferred: $5,000 fixed plus 20 percent of kit revenue for 12 months.

What this is not

No claim of WEF affiliation in any asset; all cost figures framed as public ranges. No open-ended consulting tail: the engagement ends at delivery, and the kit is yours outright.

Accepted by	Date
-------------	------

This document describes risks to assess and candidates to consider; decisions and outcomes remain the client's. It is general guidance, not legal or financial advice. False Dawn Industries. falsedawnindustries.com